

Boiling in Chicago
Beer, Perhaps, Not Soon
The Turtle's Head
Britain Listens, Builds
By Arthur Brisbane

THIS SUNDAY is quiet in many places, not in Chicago. Thanks to the depression and failure to do anything effective about unemployment, Democrats have their "great chance."

Election betting has started. Huey Long, a powerful personality from Louisiana, who is "sorry he ever went to the Senate," has $1000 against $500 that Governor Roosevelt will carry Texas by at least 100,000, regardless of bitterness about the two-thirds rule.

Ladies talking politics in Chicago decide that for some time to come "broadlines" will be more important than "party lines."

Mrs. D. A. McDougal, of Sapulpa, Oklahoma, is glad women are paying more attention to broadlines than waistlines or "skirtlines" above the knees or below the ankles.

Sen. James Hamilton Lewis' withdrawal from the presidential race is encouraging to Gov. Roosevelt. The "stop Roosevelt" movement hoped to keep Sen. Lewis Illinois following in tact to use in their fight.

William Green, able head of the American Federation of Labor, wants five things in the Democratic platform, a five-day week, shorter working hours, federal work to give employment, old age pensions, AND BREAD.

The five-day week may come, without platform help, as there isn't enough work for six days. For that matter it may be a four-day week. Beer seems probable. You would not have believed it a year ago. But it may take a year or two longer to get it.

Boys of Fanwood, N. J., used to believe that the head of a snapping turtle cut off its neck and died until sundown. Superstition never dies, no matter how often you cut off its head.

Fort of Spain, Trinidad, tells of "a frail headed Spanish mystic," suddenly coming from the mountains to the village of St. Helena to announce that within six months the world will be buried up.

Chicago would say, coldly, "go back to the mountains and get more details." The credulous villagers have given up work to devote all their time to meditation and prayer.

The prophet has gone back to the mountains. He will be annoyed six months hence, but will have a good excuse.

Through your gates, as Bunyan would say, you find easy access to the human mind. The gates of superstition, greed, and hatred, religious hatred.

A hundred times the end of the world has been announced and believed. At the beginning of the year 1000 many sold their houses and goods for nothing, put on white robes and went up into the mountains to await the coming of Christ.

The late Andrew D. White, president of Cornell University, tells of a Jewish prophet, who long after "Christ came," gathered a great following and believed that he could lead the water and those that believed in him could do the same.

While our government talks sweet nothings about disarmament, the British listen, murmuring, "by all means," but they continue building bigger and better airplane bombers.

While we suggest that such wicked machines be abolished last Saturday the British air minister showed at Hendon a new gigantic bomber, secretly built on piles of doing nothing an hour, four miles above the earth. Two hundred and six thousand paid commissions. A quarter of a million more gathered outside the airfield.

A night bomber was also displayed, scores of pursuit planes were sent up in mimic warfare to attack the bombing machines.

Pilots in the airplane squares participating included scores of bank clerks and other civilians, almost as skillful as Britain's army and navy fliers.

MOVE TO OUST PROSECUTOR IS FAILURE

Defense Then Tries to Kill Indictment; Lindbergh Calm as Tragedy is Mentioned

Flemington, N. J., June 27 (AP)—The prosecution won their first engagement in the trial of John H. Curtis, alleged Lindbergh case hoaxer, which opened today, when a motion by the defense for removal of one of the prosecution's attorneys was denied by Judge Adam O. Robinson.

MOVE FOR DISMISSAL

The defense then began public argument in motions for dismissal of the indictment and for a bill of particulars on the charges against Curtis.

The motion for quashing the indictment was presented by W. C. Pender, Norfolk attorney on the defense staff. He argued that it deprives the defendant of his constitutional rights, was vague as to details and placed Curtis in double jeopardy.

LINDBERGH CALM

Curtis, at the defense table, joined in the defense counsel called to the witness stand at the prosecution table while the argument was being made. Lindbergh kept his gaze on the table in front of him and his face was expressionless as several references were made to him and his murdered child.

During the presentation of the defense argument for dismissal, Ryan Herr of defense counsel called.

BULLETIN
Chicago, June 27—In his keynote address to the Democratic national convention today, U. S. Senator A. W. Barkley of Kentucky, long a dry leader, demanded repeal of prohibition and assailed President Hoover for his failure in the economic crisis. He declared Hoover's record should defeat him.

Chicago, June 27—The first of many expected "favorite sons" demonstrations at the Democratic national convention broke out today with a parade by supporters of Speaker John N. Garner of the national house for the presidential nomination.

It caused a delay in the actual call to order for convention organization.

There was a great yell from the Garner forces when the Texas band crashed into the stadium and paraded through the aisles. The Big Bear flag of California was also seen.

He was named as a delegate from Puerto Rico. Mayor Curley was defeated on a straight-out President ticket. FATHER OF SIX FOUND IN POND

The body of Francis E. McMurtry, 59, of 19 Court st., Woburn, father of six adult sons and daughters, was found today in Herp's Pond, Woburn yesterday. Woburn, after he had been missing since Saturday.

Because his hat and coat were found on top of the steep embankment and because there was no reason known why McMurtry should take his life, police believe he laid down for an outdoor nap and rolled into the pond.

The hat and coat were found by Metropolitan officers. Homburg and Dancy, but it was necessary to go to Medford to get a boat from which to drag.

'Little Miss Dynamite' Elected to National Committee in Chicago

Mayor Curley Gets Puerto Rico Seat

(By Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, June 27—Mayor Curley today was elected a delegate to the Democratic national convention from Puerto Rico.

The Puerto Ricans elected him in order that he might have the office and lead the convention, "in recognition of his untiring energy and his devotion to the progressive principles of government," declared by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mayor Curley was elected under the rule which permits delegates to select proxy holders.

Today's Democratic national convention developments in Chicago were:

1—Elimination of Daniel H. Ratshesky from the race for national committee resulted in the election of Governor Ely to the post. Mayor Curley was elected to seat in the convention by the Puerto Rico delegation. Ely repudiated a victory over Roosevelt attributed to him and for which Curley is blamed.

2—As delegates began flocking to the stadium for the opening session of the convention, bitterness was evident on all sides over the Roosevelt faction's drive to force his nomination on the first ballot or break the two-thirds rule after election of Senator Walsh of Montana permanent chairman over J. Lee Smith.

3—The Walsh-Smith fight is scheduled for tomorrow. Today's session, starting at 1 p. m. Boston time, will be devoted to hearing a three-hour speech by Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, appointment of committee members and other preliminaries to the big fight.

4—One surprise of the day was that Senator David J. Wadsworth of New York, who had been in a platform bearing lined up with Carter Glass and others for election of war debts, broke ranks. Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, famous radio priest, is to be heard in a demand for aid for the jobless.

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Chicago, June 27—Gov. Joseph E. Ely was elected Democratic National Committee member from Massachusetts by the delegates from his state today, after Daniel H. Cockley of Boston withdrew from the contest.

There were tears in Cockley's eyes as he announced his withdrawal to the writer while the Massachusetts delegates were assembling at the Hotel Stevens for their first caucus.

Cockley then surprised the delegates.

LOUVER CHIEF SAYS SEN. WALSH Idea G. O. P. Rejected Likely to Be Accepted by Democrats, He Believes

By DAVID L. WALSH
United States Senator From Massachusetts and a Smith Leader
Written for Universal Service
Chicago, June 27.—The most important question before the convention, outside of the choice of candidates, is the party's position on the prohibition question. The forces seem to be lined up into two camps, one favoring abstinence and the other favoring the first declaration for repeal. The first group, namely those favoring abstinence, apparently are willing to go very far in order to save a fight on the floor. The second group, those favoring repeal, seem to be more moderate. I think this group is willing to give the industry plant submission to the Republican convention and perhaps even a little shake about the lines of the rejected position seems to indicate willingness to make concessions short of an outright declaration for repeal. Just what the group is willing to have had no chance to come with them.

I think there is a possibility of the acceptance of a strong plank about the lines of the rejected position. The groups who stand for repeal to get together, because many of the leaders are just arriving in Chicago, leave the question of the fight on the floor at this somewhat unsettled.

Promise to Propose Repeal Favored by Senator DILL
By CLARENCE C. DILL
United States Senator From Washington and a Roosevelt Manager
Written for Universal Service
Chicago, June 27.—The great demand in this country today is for the people to have the opportunity to decide between the retention and the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

No platform declaration can change the method of bringing about repeal. If every member of the House and Senate were to adopt a resolution proposing repeal and submit it to the states, it would be a declaration of the Democratic party favoring "proposing" repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The states will secure more Democratic votes in the House and Senate for such a resolution than a declaration binding the party to favor repeal.

John H. Curtis, Lindenbergh "intermediary" who confessed he led searchers for the slain baby on a wild goose chase. He goes on trial in New Jersey today on a charge of obstructing justice.

On the judge to assure Curtis a fair trial. He said he did not want to see Curtis railroaded by the court as he was railroaded by the state police.

It was revealed that counsel for Curtis will offer two annihilating affidavits attacking Stout, who talked to Curtis while he was a prisoner, told the shipbuilder that the charges were "trumped up" and could not be maintained by the state.

The same witnesses were expected to take the stand for the prosecution and defense. Both sides are counting on testimony from Col. Lindbergh, head of the state police, who the baby's nurse, Mrs. Charles J. Lindbergh, and Ollie Whetzel, the Lindberghs' butler.

DRUMMERS, N. E. WATTICKS, STONE TRAIN

Police Guard Pilgrims; Girls and Women Felled; Million at Mass End Eucharist
Belfast, June 27.—Several trains returning from the Eucharistic congress in Dublin were stoned today between London and Portland in a flare-up of anti-Catholic sentiment.

Several pilgrims were injured, including three girls who were treated in hospitals for scalp wounds.

Similar attacks occurred yesterday in several parts of Ulster, as Catholic pilgrims journeyed to Dublin. Several were injured as stones crashed through train windows at Ballymena, in Antrim County.

As trains stopped in some stations, women were knocked down, their hats pulled off, and some were killed.

POLICE GUARD TRAINS
As a result of these attacks the government of Northern Ireland was taking precautions today to protect the Free State border with the Republic. The police in Belfast will be guarded by regular army troops.

Before the attack here began a group of Drummers paraded singing party songs and burling about at the Pope.

A group of girls had been assigned today along the railway to protect the pilgrims' trains on their way home from the congress to Belfast. The pilgrims were guarded by police in motor tenders at the railway station and escorted to their homes without incident.

MILLION AT MASS.
In Dublin, the 31st International Eucharistic Congress ended today, closed by probably the largest meeting its kind ever held in Christendom, a pontifical high mass attended by a throng officially estimated at 1,000,000 persons.

Pilgrims from throughout the world began their homeward journey, while a comparative handful of the high church dignitaries, remained for the Lord Mayor's farewell tonight at the city hall.

Pope Pius XI, his voice carried from Vatican City by radio, concluded the mass with a benediction which followed a brief message.

Convention Week

There was a division of opinion among the members. Senator Carter Glass of Virginia is still working on his roundabout to pledge the leading figures of the party "not to support" any candidate who is nominated by this convention by other than the national two-thirds vote.

MAINE SPLIT 3 to 1
The twenty-four votes for Underwood man, again chairman of his state delegation, is all set to shout for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A stock little man with silver hair and eyes as blue as the shirts he wears, former Gov. Brandon declared today that he has as much enthusiasm for the New York governor as he had for Underwood.

The fights over farm and unemployment relief planks actually overshadowed the prohibition rule. The platform writers were actually proposing repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, but a few members of the inner group were holding out for a plank pledging the party to support prohibition.

Major Fred Murphy and Father Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit were expected to give their views on an employment rule.

Albany to be "good Democrats" voted 41 to 8 for keeping the two-thirds rule.

The Roosevelt instructed Nevada delegation agreed, however, to vote for abrogation of the two-thirds rule. It has six votes.

Despite warnings that maintenance of the two-thirds rule means defeat for Roosevelt, the Iowa delegation voted 14 to 11 to uphold it and released delegates from the unit rule with indications they are about evenly divided between Roosevelt and Walsh for permanent chairman.

Roosevelt Chiefs Battle Steadily for First Ballot Nomination

The Lone Star emblem of Texas floated above them. At 12:30 p. m., a half hour later, Chairman Rankin banged his gavel, but it didn't do much.

PARADE HALF HOUR
The Garne parade captured the convention and held it for nearly half an hour and brought cheers for William G. McAdoo, Garner

Rankin and Col. Ed Bailey of Virginia, chief of the parade, took turns banging the gavel and ordering the sides cleared. This was accomplished after much confusion.

It was just 12:47 when Rankin presented Evangelist Booth of the Salvation Army to promote the opening prayer.

Hatless, in civilian khaki uniform, he stood with closed eyes and delivered his petition in a voice clear but quivering with earnestness.

Then, with the crowd standing aghast, Mrs. Rose Zulauf of Boston sang two stanzas of "The Star Spangled Banner." A great cheer went up as she concluded.

Edward Hurley, chairman of the local arrangements committee, presided. Mayor Arthur J. F. Hennick, who welcomed the visiting Democrats on behalf of Chicago, also spoke.

He gave a cheer when he reminded the delegates that he, too, belonged to the party of Jackson, Jefferson and Wilson and another when he asked for repeal on prohibition.

WELCOME FOR SOUTH
Just as he finished Al Smith came a mile line through the narrow runway under the speaker's stand. At first he was recognized by few, but one of them he bumped into was James A. Farley, the Roosevelt manager. They shook hands, smiling.

As the Hurry Warrior threaded his way through the crowded center aisle, to the New York delegation half way down the center, they warmly welcomed him. They developed around him, Massachusetts, instructed for him, rose and gave him three cheers, including arms of the Rooseveltians, joined in. But it was all over in a few seconds, as Smith took his place under the New York standard.

He turned and shook hands with Mayor Walker, directly behind him. By way of a key, he offered to Chairman Rankin, then launched into a report on the state of the party.

The chairman was cheered when he paid tribute to Juliet Schuchman who has been in charge of Democratic headquarters in Washington.

CHEERS FOR RANKIN
Louis Applegate greeted the chairman's statement appealing for submission of an amendment "definitely" repealing the eighteenth amendment and pledging federal assistance to the dry states in repelling "ignominious" invasions.

Rankin also called for a pledge to enact laws to "encourage tolerance and temperance" and "abolish the evils of the old-fashioned whisky." There was a demonstration for Allen W. Burke, who was introduced by Rankin as temporary chairman to deliver the convention keynote speech.

"Maryland, My Maryland" rang out when Gov. Henry D. Elkins, of Maryland, was introduced.

As the convention opened, the Roosevelt board of strategy went to a new session to work out the last minute result of state caucuses.

James A. Farley, New York, was elected to the Roosevelt group was slated through with its fight but

TUNNEY GUARD FOR O'MALLEY IN CHICAGO

By FRANK WARD O'MALLEY

Chicago, June 27 (INS)—When starting from my quiet little village of Erie, N. J.—we have only 11 speakers in the entire village—out to this bullet-proof city I was careful to have my wife pin to the inside of my vest any money I was carrying. Despite my precautions, however, and my back to the wall, I have been scared stiff about my money until this morning. Now all is safe.

THEN COMES A KNOCK.
After a hard Saturday night I was awakened by a loud knock. I opened the door to find a big fish young man standing there, backed by a billiard and a lot of fancy furniture. One word led to another. Everybody knows how it is when you're asked out of a deep sleep by an after stranger, and it's the morning after the night before in the Democratic convention times.

I almost passed him out, just to

Roosevelt Spends Day at His Desk

Albany, June 27 (INS)—Having broken his silence on the Chicago developments long enough to deny that he has made any deal for a running mate, Gov. Roosevelt is spending the first day of the Democratic national convention at his desk in the Capitol.

Attaches of the executive officers have installed a powerful radio in a few feet from Roosevelt's office so he can listen to the keynote and other first day activities. The Governor was settled when asked whether he had asked Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana to be his running mate.

"I have not," he replied.

straightened out my nerves, but awakened in time to pull my punch. I did shove him back a bit, though, and was about to slam the door when he timidly began to explain. He was a fellow writer who had just got in from New York. He explained, and the boss had directed him to the room and bath adjoining mine. The way I felt I was just going to pounce on him one way or get back to bed. But there was something pitiful about this timid, apologetic, nice appearing, travel-tired young man, and so I relented and let him in. I even ordered some coffee for us as a starter and asked him his name.

MAGIC SAFETY NAME

"Gene Tunney," he murmured modestly, between coffee sips. And right then and there young Mr. Gene Tunney received the biggest, most sincere and heartfelt kiss on the left ear—he ducked and blocked a bit, so I missed him but far—that I never even bestowed upon anyone in my life.

No more the bedded bedroom windows on hot nights with the handrail under the pillow and the final peek under the bed before dousing the lights. With a gent the size of Gene sleeping right in the same suite I know that tonight promises to be the first real night I've had since entering the gun-smoke haze of this magnificent metropolis.

Where I go Gene Tunney goes. Even when the comedy acts are closest, and I'm grabbing at the couch sewed into my vest, all I have to do is to drop back a pace and call out nonchalantly:

"Oh, Gene! Gene Tunney! On-hoo!" and ha-ha-ha and racketeer, gunman and politician fade.

TAMMANY SPLIT TO TWO

By MARGARET LANE

International News Service Staff Correspondent
Chicago, June 27—Who is the New York delegation going to support of the conventional Wolf? I'll tell you about that in a minute.

Mayor "Jimmy" Walker, carving his way with handshakes and smiles through a mob as anxious to exchange greetings with him as the crowd of his home town, left the Tammany caucus last night hot and tired, but ready to discuss the outcome of these feverish few days.

"We're in a peculiar position," he confided. "People hint that there is anti-Roosevelt feeling in Tammany, but that is absolutely untrue."

"We are presenting two men to the convention, Smith and Roosevelt, and the one is a war man as the other. They equally deserve our support and it would be unfair to give it all to one. We are sitting back impartially to see who the rest of the party wants. If they want one of our two men—fine! We're right behind him. Until then, we're sending them both out with an equal blessing."

"It's obvious that if we pushed one of our candidates forward in place of the other, and neither of them got the nomination, we should be left with a civil war in our own ranks about something that never happened."

ROOSEVELT TWINS—BUT IN BOSTON

Far removed from the Democratic turmoil at Chicago, Judge James A. Lowell in federal court today picked Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York as the Democratic nominee.

His choice came in a talk to 150 new citizens, 55 of whom were women. "I want to say a word or two about your duties as citizens," Judge Lowell opened.

"The duty of voting will be one of your most important duties. The Republican nominee is Mr. Hoover. The Democratic nominee will undoubtedly be Mr. Roosevelt, according to dispatches."

Judge Lowell continued in an explanation of party platforms and told the new citizens to study both sides before casting a vote.

GARNER OPENS RELIEF FIGHT

Washington, June 27 (AP)—Speaker Garner shattered precedent today by assuming personal direction of negotiations between the House and Senate for a compromise on the $2,500,000,000 unemployment relief bill.

Garner appeared in the meeting of conferees who are striving to iron out differences between his bill as passed by the House and the Democratic program approved by the Senate.

Asked if he had pointed the way to a compromise, the Speaker said he had done considerable "crating" but would not reveal the details of his discussion.

He said, however, he had confined his remarks to the sections of the bill dealing with emergency relief funds and expanding the borrowing power of the Reconstruction Corporation for construction loans.

There's a lot to it!

THE ARTIST blends colors. The cigarette maker blends tobaccos. The artist must use just the right amount of each color to get a pleasing effect. And the cigarette blender must use just the right amount of the right kinds of tobacco to get a better and more pleasing taste. Both must know how!

The right BLEND...

A "balanced" blend . . . the right Domestic and Turkish tobaccos in the right amounts . . . blended in a different way . . . "welded" together.

That's the Chesterfield Cross-Blend . . . an important reason why Chesterfields are milder and taste better.

It isn't just taking the tobaccos and mixing them hit-or-miss.

The Chesterfield Cross-Blend makes one type or one variety of tobacco partake of the qualities of another. It "welds" together all that is best in each variety.

It's a balanced blend in the truest sense . . . giving you what really amounts to a new kind of tobacco . . . Chesterfield tobacco . . . milder, more fragrant, better-tasting.

that's why Chesterfields TASTE BETTER

THINGS WE LIKE TO LOOK BACK UPON... SPENDING a delightful afternoon in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Tolman at Cohasset... whose roses seemed to be bursting with joy just for this occasion...

Which was an informal afternoon tea and fashion show with all of the South Shore notables in evidence in their gay summery frocks and white flannels...

Arriving in the little town through winding lanes of tender green woods and summer verdure... with blue, blue glimpses of the sea through every opening... and greeting our attractive hostess as we sauntered up to the large rambling house...

Wondering how this busy little MRS. WILLIAM COX creature with grown-up sons and daughters keeps so fresh and young these hectic days... her baby blue silk and broad white hat immensely becoming...

Shaking hands with good-looking F. H. himself in the well-known blue tweed sport and tennis trousers... only HE could get away with that combination... but he is so pleasantly genial when you converse with him you wouldn't know whether he wore flannels or dungarees.

Drifting down through the rock gardens... past the half-hidden-in-roses pergola where tea was to be served... to the garden sitting-room, lined with bookshelves and fat, squashy chairs, radio and victrola... all the comforts out in the open air...

Leads the Fashion Parade

THE GAY YOUNG THINGS WHO WERE TO MODEL were already chatting as they strolled about in their "briefs" to slip into the latest creations of Giles Madeleine... a piano was playing softly on the porch... gentle breezes wafted their fragrance of flowers mingled with the salt tang from the sea... it was one of the loveliest all fresco parties we have been on this season...

The first model to appear on the long strip of velvet carpet which had been laid down through the tree-lined path for the mannikins to walk upon was Mrs. William Cox... the Bancrofts' clever daughter who by her sweet manner and sound efficiency has reached the top-most branch of social life in Boston, president of the Vincent Club...

She wore many gorgeous designs in summer fashions effectively...

Loveliest Vision

QUITE THE LOVELIEST VISION in blue silk and white erasand, Virginia Tolman burst upon our sight and what a whirl she will give the "nice two years hence" when she strikes that curly head and flashes those rosy cheeks on you... she was quite as attractive in bathing suit as in her undergarments...

WE GOT BETTER ACQUAINTANCE with Jane Bancroft as we discussed the underlying principles of life as we were seated on a rock watching the show... Jane has a clear, steady look in her eyes that we like very much... she is at the Little Theatre at Gloucester again this summer and is terribly enthusiastic about her dramatic endeavors...

Flowered Chiffon

IN A PAINTED FLOWERED chiffon and large blue hat we have never seen Jane appear on so naïvely confident as she has been having her picture in the paper "because I am not pretty," she said... don't you love it? With all of the acclaim and attention she has received she still keeps her own standards to herself... quite a useful piece of advice... every other day you meet imagines she resembles Greta Garbo or Marlene Dietrich...

ONE CUNNING LITTLE GIRL... a devastating blonde... appeared in white one-piece bathing suit, her chubby little limbs the focus of all eyes... she was tiny Mary Cumner, the four-year-old daughter of the Bancrofts' Cumner and too adorable to describe in words...

Tall and Dark

MRS. CUMNER APPARED in many modish afternoon costumes, as did Mary McElwain...

World Is Only a Bughouse and Darrow's Ready to Die

Chicago, June 27, (INS)—Clarence Darrow, famous criminal lawyer who spent most of his life saving men from premature death at the hands of a hangman's noose, is ready to yield himself to death.

Wandering through political headquarters in a downtown hotel and watching the scurrying crowds, Darrow said he was ready to die.

"It's a crazy old world," he soliloquized. "Think of it. The human race need work but an hour a day to supply all its needs. There's no real human labor left. Everything is being done by machinery."

"There's plenty of wealth but a rotten distribution of it. There's a tremendous surplus of food everywhere and yet people are going hungry for want of food."

"There's no democracy left any more. Indeed, it's difficult to find a real Democrat."

"It's all a big bughouse," he added, with a wave of his hand. "I'll be glad to leave it."

STOCKS POWER WALL ST. DEALINGS

New York, June 27.—The share market in Wall Street opened down in the neighborhood of the bear market low registered the first of the month today.

A steady tone in bonds, and a hardening tendency in estimate of the commodities, prompted a little rally in stocks before opening, but thereafter prices slipped off easily in spots under light pressure.

DIVIDEND UNEASINESS

Traders were obviously uneasy over important dividend meetings slated for tomorrow.

The stock market fell back to around the lower of the bear market in a midday selling flurry, but steadied somewhat in the later afternoon.

The turnover was about 300,000 shares.

Norfolk & Western dropped 9 points, and issues of 40 or more included Westinghouse Electric, Case and Allied Chemical, while such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone and Telegraph, American Express, and United Fruit, were among the few that had not yet lost their regular annual earnings.

At the 27th annual meeting of the company, a share, but a substantial advance in price is indicated for the year.

Of the 32 were ordered both last year and in 1930.

ATLANTIC'S OUTLOOK

Atlantic's directors are also scheduled to meet tomorrow, and since they warned three months ago that continued heavy losses in the company would require important dividend meetings.

With these dividends out of the way, the market will have something of a breathing spell as far as readjustment of the stock of the Atlantic is concerned.

Indications that the relief program may keep Congress in session for another week or longer, and the prospect that the Louisiana conference may adjourn only to be re-opened in the fall, tend to dim hopes of a resumption of the bull market.

In the meantime, interest in the Department of Commerce was renewed, because of the likelihood of important declarations on economic problems which are forthcoming.

State Street Investment Corp. declared a quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share, payable July 15 to stock of record June 15. In previous quarters the payment has been 15 cents a share.

COOK-COOS

WE TEACH YOU HOW TO BECOME A RADIO ANNOUNCER

Correct. Foolish. "It is a beautiful truth that all men contain something of the goat in them."—Walt Whitman.

What burns us up, in teaching radio announcing by mail, is to have some mug and to a special delivery saying, "Pshaw, I can't speak in public, I feel so awkward, send me back my tuition fee." Our answer to that is, "Oh, fiddlersicks." You can become a radio announcer. For all you know you possess hidden powers which will sway and charm millions. You will get letters from lonely women. You get away from home every night. Show us a pupil who wants his tuition back and we'll show you a weak and spineless creature who doesn't know his own mind—a jellyfish. Get lost to yourself. We haven't time to jangle you. Boost the course. Don't know. Let's have a little school spirit. Only a rat deserves a sinking ship. Those who quit the course had better go on a chess diet. That's our advice. Twenty-three, kiddies.

"Farmers," says editorial, "ought to be thankful that there is no apparent water shortage." And the city folks can comfort themselves with the realization that there is plenty of finger ails.

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Sympathetic Aunt Bella—
What do you think we should do about the general financial situation?

—ANXIOUS.
Ans.—Put it away and forget about it, dearie.
—Aunt (Ho Hum) Bella.

—YEAP?
(Intermission.)

"It is boring to be so frequently reported engaged."—
Tallulah Bankhead.

Banks are much more virtuous than the cat who's virtuous.

Gentle racket—"I don't want any of his money—but I think he should be punished."
